TV: 'Link' features DeWitt man

TODAY'S MUST-SEE: "Weakest Link," 3 p.m., Channel 47.

This is "big winner week" for the show, and a DeWitt man is part of it. The catch: We don't know if he's the one who wins the money.

The show has held back its episodes in which the contestants pile up the biggest winnings. They air this week; only one of the six contestants, however, gets the cash.

Today's episode includes Tom Cantrell, 33, of DeWitt, best known as the founder of the Tom Bowl. Each year, he invites the nation's top two college football teams to a game; each year, neither team shows up. The polite places (Nebraska, for instance) send a nice letter.

OTHER CHOICES:

- "Galaxy Quest," 8 p.m. to 10 p.m., Channel 53 (ABC).

This delightful comedy imagines there was once a "Galaxy Quest" series, a lot like "Star Trek." Decades later, the actors are reduced to doing conventions and store openings. Then some outer-space aliens - confused about this whole reality-vs.-fiction thing - draft them for a real adventure. The result is sometimes hilarious; Tim Allen stars, and Enrico Colantoni is great as an optimistic alien.

- "Friends," 8 p.m., Channel 10 (NBC); rated TV14. Here's a solution to having a weak show on Thursdays: For one night, NBC expands its strong ones to 40 minutes each, scuttling "Good Morning, Miami." This episode stuffs in three guest stars - Freddie Prince Jr. as Rachel's baby's nanny, Paul Rudd as Phoebe's current love and Hank Azaria as her past one, suddenly returned from Russia.

- "Survivor: Thailand," 8 p.m., Channel 6 (CBS). With the tribes merged, people consider new alliances and oust an eighth person.

- "Will & Grace," 8:40 p.m., Channel 10, TV14. Gene Wilder plays the senior partner of Will's firm. He wants Will's friend fired - and wants Will to do it. Meanwhile, Karen is suddenly homeless.

- "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation," 9 p.m., Channel 6, PG. Catherine awaits the DNA results of a guy she helped convict long ago; now she doubts his guilt.
- "Scrubs," 9:20 p.m., Channel 10, TV14. Dr. Cox (John C. McGinley) tries to battle drug companies. That isn't easy when a beautiful drug representative (Heather Locklear) arrives.
- "ER," 10 p.m., Channel 10, TV14. Corday clashes with the new resident, played by Don Cheadle, and worries about an unconscious 14-year-old. Abby is torn by a complaint against Luka; she also worries about her brother, played by Tom Everett Scott of "That Thing You Do."

Mike Hughes' column appears Mondays through Fridays.
